

ABSTRACT

For enhancement of heat dissipation from a piston of an internal combustion engine, an airtight cavity vertically elongated in a piston body is partially filled with a heat transfer material.